Welcoming New Life

Very truly, I tell you, unless a grain of wheat falls into the earth and dies, it remains just a single grain; but if it dies, it bears much fruit. John 12:24 NRSV

With the appearance of Spring, we've been planting new azaleas and gardenias in our front yard, pulling out the 25-year-old failing yews. The presentation is delightful, as are the comments of neighbors passing by. The new bright colors speak of hope and life. No one talks about dying yews.

Lent is the season Christians reflect on dying and rising again. It's a strange discipline in post-modern society. Technology and medicine have pushed death into hidden corners, making death an infrequent experience. Our entertainment is filled with enough gratuitous violence to make death surreal, leaving us unprepared when it shows up. We meet death usually only in our family when an elder passes on and it triggers all of our emotions. This rollercoaster ride of the highs and lows, twists and turns, of life and death predisposes us to give fear more power than it is due. Trusting in the wisdom of the ages seems insufficient to restrain the anxiety and distress rushing through our bloodstream. Among God's creatures, only humanity so perverts the life cycle.

Maturing, bearing fruit, and then dying so the future may be born from the seeds that fall to Earth is the life cycle of creation. Jesus understood and pointed to this principle of existence. He did not fear death. He saw his death as the gateway to the propagation of the life that endures for all ages. He saw his forthcoming death as the gift of life for us across generations, time and space.

The Lutheran Urban Parish of Tampa is arising from seeds fallen to Earth. St. Paul and Faith both have storied histories. St. Paul has gone through three lifecycles; Faith has gone through two. Together we are going through another one. With each lifecycle, new ministries supplant former ministries and the sense of mission responds to the present community needs rather than what used to exist.

At one time, electric streetcars ran past St. Paul and Hillsborough High School students gathered in the sanctuary before the school day for morning prayer. Those things are not coming back. But a concern for public transit and helping students respond violence on campus could be mission concerns that arise from the seeds of the past. Examples.

Beginning next month, the Lutheran Urban Parish will officially receive Dr. Gabriel Morgan as our pastoral intern in the TEEM Internship program of the ELCA. Both congregations have had sons and daughters become pastors. Now we will help shape a pastor – and the pastoral intern help shape us.

The TEEM program is about providing a space for special pastoral candidates to develop emergent ministries. The restructured Parish Ministry Board will be helping to discern how emergent ministry takes shape among us. One of the keys to emergent ministry is to let the skills and passion of members and mission partners lead in developing new ministries. Vicar Gabriel will help provide leadership in this process. (Interns go by the ministerial title vicar.)

As we move forward in this new moment of the life of the parish and its congregations, new possibilities will unfold for putting our faith in action and engaging people in the community. I pray that you will find a place to connect your sense of ministry and discipleship with the new growth the Spirit is bring about among us.

Please pray for the parish in our bold step forward with the internship. Also consider giving additional support for ensuring its success. And most of all, participate in the new things that God is doing among and with us.

Grace and peace,
Pr Russell Meyer

LENTEN SCHEDULE

Christ (and Us) Face to Face with the World

For the Christ also has once suffered for sins, the just for the unjust, that he might bring us to God, being put to death in the flesh, but made alive in spirit. 1 Peter 3:18 [Jubilee Bible]

Our Midweek Lenten Services will explore Christ's encounter with the world, or as John 12 puts it, divine glory face to face with human glory. God offers in Christ that which humanity often denies us. Jesus is light in the darkness, truth in the midst of deception, love where apathy rules. Worldly success tempts us to do whatever it takes. With Jesus, power for life comes from being forgiven and becoming forgiving so that we can give whatever it takes for the love of God.

FROM THE PRESIDENT

As a congregation we took a leap of faith this year, assuming we could fill our fiscal deficit as we passed a very hopeful budget. We are well on our way toward doing just that with Today's Church moving into the parsonage in March. We have another church using the sanctuary on Sunday and are in talks with a Tai Chi group about using the education building a couple of days a week. I think that's great not only for the revenues stream, but for the building use. We have this big building, let's use it!

If you have an interest in feeding the houseless, please join us at The Well on the 3rd Saturday of the month. This mission is very rewarding, and for those who have been involved we have developed some great relationships. We gather at 8:30 to load then start distribution at the Good Samaritan Inn at 9:30. As an offshoot of this mission, Gabriel would like to gather food and hygiene supplies to hand out as needed from St. Paul and Faith. If this is something that you would like to be a part of, bring your cash, food or hygiene donations for collation on Sunday. See Gabriel for details

In this Lenten season we are encouraged toward self-reflection. I think this is a good idea, to sort of reassess where we are in our Christian life. I like to think about Jesus' journey and his understanding of what was to come and contrast that to ours. We never know where life will take us, and as someone who has experienced personal tragedy, I understand that sometimes we must just accept. Discernment, listening. That's what we are called to do in lent. Sometimes the listening is the hardest part. Letting life happen as we travel our journey. Not so easy, but with faith and trust it is liberating. Let us travel thoughtfully together, rejoicing in the renewal.

Respectfully submitted,
Tina Fritz, Council President

FROM THE PARISH DEACON

“I Will, and I Ask God to Help Me!”

As most of you know last Sunday evening, February 24, we had a special service for my Florida-Bahamas Synod, Parish Deacon Commissioning. I spent about two years attending courses on Saturday mornings that included study about being an ELCA Lutheran and about being a Christian in general. I started out this journey looking for how I could learn more about my faith and, quite frankly, looking for meaning. I wanted to be closer to God so I could learn how to overcome my own sadness and disappointments that had left me feeling lost and confused. As I worked through the courses and did some reflective prayer, I began to understand that it was not about what I was going to get out of serving the church but it was about truly surrendering to God’s will; it was about sharing His peace by serving others.

As a part of the commissioning service, Pastor Meyer was gracious enough to allow me to choose the readings for the service. I chose, Micah 6:6-8, 1 John 4:7-21 and for the Gospel reading, Matthew 7: 1-14. All three of these readings are words that have inspired me but, more importantly, they have humbled me. When I read Micah 6, I reminded of what God calls us all to do; to act justly, love mercy, and walk humbly with Him. When I read 1 John 4, especially vs 18 “there is no fear in Love”, I am reminded that if I am truly committed to serve, I must do this with the Love of our Father, one that is grounded in Loving ALL of His children without fear. When I read Matthew 7, I am reminded of the great love that Jesus came to share with all of us, and He clearly defines what actions we must take, and we don’t need to fear, because as He shares with us in vs 7, we should trust and have faith and in vs 12, He reminds us that “in EVERYTHING, do to others as you would have them do unto you”.

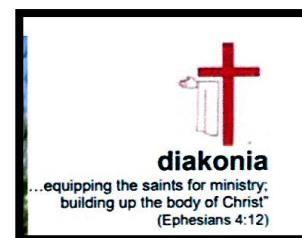

In Matthew 7 vs 14, Jesus tells us that “small is the gate and narrow is the road that leads to life, and only a few find it.” In his sermon last week, Pastor Meyer explained that to go down this narrow path means to love and serve others in this world without expecting anything in return. I have been thinking about this a lot since then. I pray that my ministry as a Deacon for Lutheran Urban Parish will be one that will take me down this narrow path. In my ministry as a deacon, I plan to continue to assist our pastor with pastoral care, contribute music to both of our churches, continue to volunteer with The Well, and I want to work with our Pastor to support immigrants and refugees in helping those who have been forced to leave their countries to escape persecution, resettle and integrate into new communities.

I started this journey looking for meaning in my life and I have that found meaning. Yes, this journey through the diakonia training for two years has helped learn more about what it means to be Lutheran and it has brought me closer to God but the biggest thing I have realized is that this calling is not about me. I am no longer pondering the need to overcome sadness and disappointment because I now know that it isn’t about expecting something in return. As a part of the commissioning service last week, Pastor Meyer asked me, “Will you witness in word and deed, and by your own example encourage God’s people in faithful service and holy living?” and I responded: “I will, and I ask God to help me.” I invite you to join me on this journey. May the peace of the Lord be with you always!

Jeanine Romano, Phd

Parish Deacon, Lutheran Urban Parish

PARISH ASSOCIATE

Greetings in Christ Jesus!

I would like to invite you to a new study group that will begin Thursday, 5 April at 6:30pm in the lounge at St Paul. Meditation seems to enjoy some popularity today. Modern science has begun to better understand the benefits of mindfulness for reducing stress and finding greater peace and balance in one's life. Yet meditation comes in many forms, from the more physical styles of yoga and tai chi, to the sitting meditations of Buddhism. Every week, we have meditation in the sanctuary at St Paul at noon. Our practice is in the Christian tradition of lectio divina, as adapted by Luther and later Lutherans. If you'd like to learn more about meditation and its benefits, I'd like to invite you to join us for a new study group called Introduction to Meditation: Buddhist and Christian Perspectives. I have asked a longtime friend of mine, Justine Carpenter, to participate and offer some of his own knowledge and experiences as a Christian and lifetime practitioner of Buddhism. In this group, I hope that we will have an opportunity to do some interfaith dialogue and learn more about the insights the Buddhist tradition offers, as well as to learn about those aspects of our own tradition with which we may be unfamiliar. I hope to see you there!

Peace,

Gabriel Morgan

Dr. Gabriel Morgan will lead four of our parish youth to the triennial youth gathering in Houston this summer. We must pay their registration this month. Your special offering for them makes a difference in reaching our $6000 goal.

The Gathering seeks to open up pathways for attendees to discover someone to become, somewhere to belong and something to do. God has fierce love for them, just as they are, and by grace, through faith, they have been saved. Experiencing and claiming this reality, indeed changes everything!

WRITE YOUTH GATHERING ON YOUR CHECK MEMO LINE!

PUB THEOLOGY: Greetings family and friends of the Lutheran Urban Parish of Tampa! Martin Luther often invited friends and guests to his home to enjoy food and a good beer, and the conversations around the table were often so engaging that his students recorded them. Does that sound like fun? Well if you are ready to relax, have a pint, and speak easy about the big topics, then come join us for Pub Theology on Fridays, at 6:30 pm in the Luther Tower, which is located on the campus of St Paul, toward the back left corner of the parking lot. We will meet weekly, invite a friend; all are welcome! Please note that this event is BYOB.

MUSIC MINISTRY

Blessed assurance, Jesus is mine! Oh, what a foretaste of glory divine! Heir of salvation, purchase of God, born of his Spirit, washed in his blood. This is my story, this is my song, praising my Savior all the day long; this is my story, this is my song, praising my Savior all the day long. (ELW 638 stanza 1)

Sunday, March 25, the Hymn Lovers Conference and New Parish Institute will present Women Hymn Writers at 4pm, here at St. Paul. This will be a joyous musical celebration featuring women hymn writers, with concert pianist Earl Willie Sparrow at the piano. The above hymn text was written by Fanny Crosby, one of the featured women hymn writers. This hymn is well known and loved at St. Paul and throughout the world. You will hear (and sing!) many of your favorite hymns and learn something about them too! This is a FREE event, so invite your friends, family and neighbors to what will be an outstanding and enjoyable afternoon of incredible music!

Many thanks to our musicians for sharing their time and talents with us on a regular basis: Ann Delach, Gabriel Morgan, Hilde Reno, Gabriel Morgan, Dave Stroupe, Jeanine Romano, and Michael Brannan (cantors); all of our choir members, for all of their time in late rehearsals during Lent; and Greg Cannella, who inspired us on Transfiguration Sunday playing the trumpet.

Soli Deo Gloria (to God alone be the glory),

Dennis

REBECCA CIRCLE

The ladies of Rebecca Circle met on February 15. Our program, chosen by Winnie Clark, focused on looking at the Lenten season through a new 'mirror' and was followed by an insightful discussion about the deprivation model (giving something up) for Lent and a new, additive approach of looking at how we live in light of Christ's sacrifice. To that end, we decided to act intentionally to give time, talents, and treasure to others and to pray and meditate on the meaning of Lent in our lives.

Our next meeting is scheduled for 7:30 pm Thursday, March 15 at the home of Carol Moberg. Ann Delach will present the program. We look forward to seeing you there.

Blessings,

Hilde

STEWARDSHIP

Try Something New?

Do you want to shake up your giving, or did you make a resolution to give more, but don't know how to ease into it? Or as part of your Lenten journey, you want to try a new kind of sacrifice. Here are a couple methods you can use that are painless and you will find that giving is easier than you thought.

First up is called the Try-a-Tithe Sunday. Pick a Sunday, and instead of your regular giving, give a tithe. This may be a big jump for you or a small step. Either way, pay attention in the next week or two, and see that God will provide for you, and you will not want. Maybe try it again next time or next month. Soon you will see it is easy to do.

Another method to try if you want to start giving, is to start with a dollar the first week. The second week give two dollars, the third week three dollars, the fourth week four dollars, and so on for a year. The last week would be $52. So over the course of the year you will have given over $1,300 and each week you would have given only a dollar more than the week before. Some weeks you might even find that additional dollar in change in your sofa!
